Lucknow
In association with
JIGNASA

Overview :

Goel Ayurvedic Medical College & Hospital (GAMCH) located in the historic city of Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh. Goel Ayurvedic Medical College & Hospital is a premier institution dedicated to the fusion of ancient Ayurvedic wisdom and modern medical science. Established in 2019 under the Roop Chand Ramji Lal Educational Trust, it has quickly emerged as a hub for quality healthcare and medical education.

Jignasa is a Pan-India initiative exclusively dedicated to AYUSH students and the AYUSH education system. With the aim of promoting health and deepening the understanding of medical systems and theories under AYUSH, Jignasa conducts various student-oriented and socially beneficial activities, driven by its motto: "Learn AYUSH to Practice AYUSH."

Today, Ayurveda and other traditional systems of medicine are gaining significant recognition in the global health landscape. This highlights the urgent need to empower our educational framework to align with evolving global benchmarks.

The Departments of Dravyaguna (Pharmacology) and Rognidan Evam Vikriti Vigyan (Pathology & Diagnostics) at Goel Ayurvedic Medical College & Hospital, Lucknow, are proud to announce a collaborative National Seminar in association with Jignasa "Dravya Nidanam 2026" aims to bridge the gap between medicinal plant science and clinical diagnosis, offering a comprehensive platform for scholars, practitioners, and students to explore the synergistic relationship between identifying a disease and selecting the perfect herbal protocol.

This seminar is designed for students, researchers, and clinicians who aim to practice Integrative Medicine. It offers a rare opportunity to learn from eminent Ayurvedic scholars and modern medical experts about how "The Substance" (Dravya) and "The Diagnosis" (Nidanam) can be harmonized for better patient outcomes.
